which might lead to insanity, Blank said.

At least 20 mental cases which have been brought to the psychopathic court are attributed today to the action of the brutal slaying of Marion Parker.

While the jurists declared the killing of William Edward Hickman, to be sane, the horror of his deed has left its mark on the records of the county lunacy commission by those who believed themselves connected with the crime.

Thousands of Phone Calls

In addition to the unusual number of mentally disturbed persons who were confined for observation, thousands of telephone calls were received, together with many letters, by the lunacy commission the week following the crime.

Charles F. Fenley, of Stockton, Calif., was among those examined by Superior Judge Thomas C. Gould, in the lunacy court. Fenley told the court that he was "born a fox" and that he trained himself to become a "fox dog."

"It takes a fox dog to catch a fox," Fenley said, explaining after his strange conduct had resulted in his being placed under observation.

One Victim Dies

Wallace Saunders, of Los Angeles, who was taken into custody at the height of the excitement over Hickman's escape, died in a state of shock. He was found shooting and wounding in his home with a tight grip on the wrist of his little daughter, whom he feared would be the victim of a kidnapping.

Charles Delehav, of Chicago, told the court that his life had been threatened because he had a record for "immoral" acts, while Floyd Peters, of Los Angeles, had a plan "to cure the world of kidnappers."

Grower Paria, of Long Beach, believed himself to have been Hickman's accomplice. He sought out officers and told them he had a record in kidnapping the Parker child.

Said He Was "Fox"

One man appeared before the court seeking to identify himself as Hickman with a paper on which he had written the words "The Fox" many times, while another was taken into custody when he began stopping automobiles, demanding at the point of a revolver if the occupant was Hickman.

Sherman Gould, secretary of the lunacy commission, declared that most of the heavy mental stress had passed and fewer cases were being brought before the court.

Meanwhile Hickman was to face a week of examination of state officials, who expected to uncover new angles to the youth's strange personality.

Depositions Of No Value, Claims Costello

FORT SMITH, Ark., Jan. 16.—Depositions taken here by Jerome Walsh, chief counsel for Edward Hickman, confessed slayer of Marion Parker, will not aid his client in any way, according to James P. Costello, assistant district attorney of Los Angeles, who accompanied him.

"The depositions in the main come from relatives and friends of the family and will not in any way aid Hickman at his trial," said Costello.

Walsh, however, held the opposite view, asserting he had obtained valuable information which would aid him in his insanity defense of Hickman.

Depositions were taken from neighbors of the Hickman family when they lived at Hartford and relatives and several school teachers to whom Edward Hickman went to school. Walsh's questions indicated he was trying to establish hereditary insanity.

Costello departed for Tulsa, Okla., where he will spend part of today. He expects to return to Kansas City tomorrow and go to Los Angeles Wednesday.

here, proceeded from Corinto to Managua.

Generals in Conference
General Lejeune and General Feland immediately went into conference with Col. Louis Guillo, who has been in command here.

The last major engagement with the Sandino rebels was reported Saturday, when an official report said Maj. R. E. Rowell, commanding a marine airplane bombing squadron, had attacked a Sandino patrol, killing 40 rebels.

The attack was near El Chipote mountain, where Sandino and his followers were strongly entrenched. The bombing planes swung out of the clouds on the patrol. Some of the planes flew low and strafed the patrol with a vigorous machine gun fire. Hand grenades were used.

One Plane Struck
The Sandino patrol returned the attack, but the marine planes were not shot down. The Sandino forces, however, were unable to return the attack. The Sandino forces, however, were unable to return the attack. The Sandino forces, however, were unable to return the attack.

COOLIDGE PREACHES PEACE IN OPENING PAN AMERICA PARLEY

In a speech preaching the Golden Rule, peace and democracy for the western world, President Coolidge gave a message generally regarded as vital to the Monroe doctrine.

At the same time, he involved "no antagonism to any other section of the world or any other organization."

Friendly Notice to League
These passages, largely viewed as a friendly notice to the League of Nations and the world at large that the Americas bind themselves ever more closely together, without outside interference, were linked with assurances that the Americas intend to let justice, equity and respect for each other's sovereignty prevail in all their relations.

"The existence of this conference, held for the consideration of measures of purely American concern, involves no antagonism to any other section of the world or any other organization," President Coolidge said. "It means that the independent republics of the western hemisphere, animated by the same ideals, enjoying the common blessings of freedom and peace, realize there are many matters of mutual interest and importance which can best be investigated and resolved through the medium of such friendly contact and negotiation as is necessary for co-operative action."

Duty to Maintain Ideals
"We realize that one of the most important services which we can render humanity, the one for which we are peculiarly responsible, is to maintain the ideals of our western world. That is our obligation."

"No one else can discharge it for us. It is to be met, we must meet it ourselves. We must join together in assuring conditions under which our republics will have the freedom and the responsibility of working out their own destiny in their own way."

The president's speech made no reference to the recent U. S. ordering of more marines to Nicaragua.

"Consideration, co-operation, friendship and charity," he designated as the "highest law" in international dealings, adding:

"If we are to experience a new era in our affairs, it will be because the world recognizes and lives in accordance with this spirit. Its most complete expression is the Golden Rule."

Peace Main Theme
The president's message to a notable gathering of Pan American delegates here carried as its main theme peace and co-operation among the Americas. He advocated stronger ties of business and communication and favored development of aviation as a means of strengthening the bonds among the sister republics of the north and south. Mr. Coolidge's address, regarded as one of the strongest pleas for friendship among the Pan-American countries, praised the democracy of these nations and held that "next to our attachment to the principle of self-government has been our attachment to the policy of peace."

The president declared the American republics had always gauged their military establishments to the needs of self-protection, but never "for the purpose of overawing or subjugating other nations."

"In the spirit of Christopher Columbus all of the Americas have an eternal bond of unity, a common heritage bequeathed to us alone," Mr. Coolidge said. "Unless we together redeem the promise which his voyage held for humanity, it must remain forever void. This is the destiny which Pan America has been chosen to fulfill."

Spirit of Liberty Universal
"The spirit of liberty is universal. An attitude of peace and good will prevails among our nations. A determination to adjust differences among ourselves, not by a resort to force, but by the application of the principles of justice and equity, is one of our strongest characteristics. The sovereignty of small nations is respected. It is for the purpose of giving stronger guarantees to these principles, of increasing the amount and extending the breadth of these blessings, that this conference has been assembled."

"Our most sacred trust has been and is the establishment and expansion of the spirit of democracy. No doubt we shall make some mistakes and experience some disappointment. But we have put our confidence in the wisdom of the people. We believe we can rely on their intelligence, their honesty, and their character. We are thoroughly committed to the principle that they are better fitted to govern themselves than anyone else is to govern them."

Fought For Independence
"Next to our attachment to the principle of self-government has been our attachment to the policy of peace. When the republics of the western hemisphere gained their independence, they were compelled to fight for it. They have always been a brave, resolute, and determined people willing to make any sacrifices to defend what they believed to be their rights. But when once their rights have been secured they have been almost equally solicitous to respect the rights of others. Their chief efforts have been devoted to the arts of peace. They have never come under the delusion of military grandeur. Nowhere among these republics have great military establishments been maintained for the purpose of overawing or subjugating other nations. We have all nourished a commendable respect for the sovereignty of the nations. We have all been united in the belief that the nations are to be prepared to defend our rights as a last extremity and quite another to rely on force where reason ought to prevail."

Satisfactory Record
President Coolidge declared the "republics south of the Rio Grande have produced a most satisfactory record of a resort to mediation, arbitration and other peaceful methods of adjustment and adjudication of their international differences."

Maintenance and Extension of Such Principles, he said, underlie the present conference.

"The whole atmosphere of the conference," he continued, "is animated with the spirit of democracy and good will. All nations here stand on an exact footing of equality. The smallest and the weakest speak here with the same authority as the largest and the most powerful."

Turning to the question of the program as a medium of promoting international goodwill, Mr. Coolidge emphasized that much damage can be done by "misinterpreting facts or by carelessness in presenting them in their true light."

Development of inter-American highways and aviation, he suggested, would act as a new link in the bonds among the Americans.

Turning again to the question of peaceful means of settling disputes, the president declared:

Seek No Privileges
"It is a high example that we have set for the world in resolving international differences without resort to force. . . Our republics seek no special privileges for themselves, nor are they moved by any of those purposes of domination and restraints upon liberty of action which in other times and places have been fatal to peace and progress."

"The light which Columbus followed has not faded," the president said in conclusion. "The courage that carried him on still lives. They are the heritage of the people of Bolivar and of Washington. We must lay our voyage of exploration toward complete understanding and friendship."

Having taken that course, we must not be turned aside by the fears of the timid, the counsels of the ignorant, or the designs of the malevolent. With law and charity as our guides, with that ancient faith which is only strengthened when it requires martyrdom, we shall anchor at last in that arbor of justice and truth. The same Pilot which stood by the side of the Great Discoverer and the Wisdom which instructed the founding fathers of our republics, will continue to abide with us."

Tribute to U. S.
President Machado's first sentence in his opening speech of welcome contained a glowing tribute to the United States.

"We behold the illustrious person of Calvin Coolidge, chief executive of the greatest of all democracies," he said. The Cuban executive continued:

"I believe that at this gathering of all Americans we may complete that which constitutes our common aspiration, the rule of peace and justice. We gather with the practical purpose of consolidating a mutual, beneficial and positive brotherhood, both in spirit and in interests."

"Pan Americanism," he continued, "is a constructive work that does not imply antagonism, but on the contrary co-operates for universal peace, for a better understanding amongst all peoples; towards the spiritual and moral unity of the nations of the world. It bears in mind that in international life greatness should not be measured by standards of brute force.

Avoid Demonstrations
"It is not my purpose to suggest rules of conduct to such an illustrious assembly. But I will say that Cuba aspires to see the nations here represented united in the common name of America; some not allowing themselves to be controlled by unjustified prejudices; others avoiding any demonstration that might result in an involuntary threat."

President Machado's speech contained one reference that was interpreted by some delegates as an endorsement of the Monroe doctrine.

"Nothing, nor no one," he said, "can now oppose the tide that impels the destinies of the western hemisphere toward a definite brotherhood under the shelter of the judicial standards that are indispensable for the maintenance of peace."

Both President Coolidge and President Machado had to pause frequently during their speeches while delegates and spectators applauded.

Outburst Greeted Coolidge
A tremendous outburst came when Coolidge arose, adjusted his horn rimmed glasses and smiled broadly at his audience.

The conference adjourned at 11:55 a. m., until Tuesday.

President Coolidge's reference to respecting the sovereignty of small nations was applauded heartily, as was his tribute to Latin America's "impressive record of resort to mediation, arbitration and other peaceful methods of settlement and adjudication of international differences."

During the remainder of his speech, the delegates listened attentively.

Cuba proclaimed today a national holiday.

With all the charm of Latin-generosity, the nation through its magnificent capital city, turned out en masse early this forenoon to greet again the welcome, strong President Coolidge's pathway with flowers and said to him in the fervor of the outburst that it appreciated his gesture of good will in journeying to a foreign shore.

The calendar of the president and Mrs. Coolidge was full.

The national theater, cleared temporarily of the Starfield Police, filled early with Latin and United States guests and made ready to greet the president and his speech.

To Visit Sugar Mill
Thereafter the president's party was to motor to President Machado's estate outside the city, partake of his hospitality, later visit a Cuban sugar mill and then this afternoon witness a falcon game—the favorite sport of Cuba.

Tonight at 8 o'clock President and Mrs. Coolidge will be the honor guests at a state banquet in President Machado's palace.

They will be able to partake, if they so elect, of the wines of Latin vineyards for, unlike the informal dinner by Machado last night, toasts will be drunk tonight.

Tomorrow before dawn the party will board the battleship Tomas for the return to the United States.

President and Mrs. Coolidge and the United States official party were luncheon guests of President and Senora Machado, at "Naneta," the country ranch home of the Cuban executive, situated at Santiago de Las Vegas, about 10 miles outside of Havana.

Rain Disperses Crowd
Tropical showers were calling as the party left the presidential palace, driving to shelter a large crowd which had assembled along the Avenida de Las Misiones for another fleeting glimpse of President Coolidge.

SHORTLY OF BELIEF HOOVER WILL WIN RACE

There was universal condemnation of reports that Secretary of Treasury Mellon, considered one of the most influential men in the party, may swing Pennsylvania's 16 convention votes to Hoover, after a few complimentary ballots for Senator David A. Reed and Gov. John S. Fisher, of that state.

Should Mellon follow this plan, Hoover's candidacy would receive tremendous influence because the commerce secretary is believed to have enough prospective delegates to become the leading candidate at the caucus.

Carnal Endorsement, experienced Ohio politician, charged, accused Mellon of the campaign of Senator Willis with endorsement that he would not be satisfied with the "favorite son" support of Ohio, but would expend his primaries outside the state with a view to furthering Willis' candidacy.

Must Respect Decision
Chairman Butler, of the Republican national committee, stirred discussion by informing New York Republicans women that President Coolidge could not be drafted, for another term and that his decision to retire must be respected as final.

This view was offered by Butler in connection with the movement started by Charles D. Hillis, Republican national committeeman in New York, suggesting Coolidge be drafted despite his statements.

HIGH GEAR ROAD UP MOUNTAINS STARTED

Work was scheduled to start today on the first link of a "high gear" road to the crest of the San Bernardino mountains, according to announcement in Los Angeles by J. G. Dymovian, who has been awarded the contract for building six miles of the road for $380,000. It is estimated it will cost $1,000,000 to complete a road of 6 per cent grade to the top of the range.

The work on this contract will start in Waterman canyon and will result in the carving of a strip across the south side of the mountains from the canyon to Squirrel Inn. The contractor expects to complete the contract within one year, and completion of the entire project will eliminate the "switchbacks," provide a six per cent grade road and shorten the distance between the foot of the "switchbacks" and the Rim of the World. The number of curves will be reduced.

POLICE SEARCH FOR PAIR THAT ROBBED HOMES

A pocketbook containing $1 in cash was stolen from the home of Mrs. Preston Turner, 508 Normandy Place late Saturday afternoon, according to a report filed with the police.

At the same time, police officers announced they were searching for an elderly woman and a man several years younger, believed to be responsible for several mysterious visits to Santa Ana homes during the past several days.

An elderly woman went to the Turner home on the pretense of selling Mrs. Turner some lace according to officers. In some manner she entered the home, went into the kitchen, while she stayed in another part of the home. Soon after the woman left, Mrs. Turner missed the pocketbook, she reported.

According to another report relative to the old woman and the man, parties resembling them called at the home of W. L. Mayhew, 1009 South Main street, at 6 p. m. Saturday and asked for the daughter, Dorothy, stating that they wanted her to give the man steel guitar lessons. Several mysterious telephone calls also had been received, it was said.

Other families have reported that a man came to their homes and asked if there were "any men folks" at home, explaining that his car was stalled and he wanted help to push it to a garage. On one occasion, when help was refused, the man was seen to get in his machine and drive away.

A silver open face watch was stolen from the room of John F. Groothuis, 624 Riverline street, last Thursday, according to a report filed with police yesterday. Groothuis reported that he had allowed a Mexican to sleep in the apartment the night before.

Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Jarvis, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. James McGraw, W. A. Culp, H. A. MacClatchie, George Henigan, Miss Mary Stark and Mrs. Alice Youtsey.

R. E. Barnes, of the Oilfields National bank, was present with his orchestra, furnishing music for the dancing.

Y. M. C. A. Session Planned Jan. 27 In High School

BREA, Jan. 16.—The first annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. of the northern part of Orange county is to be held at the Brea-Olinda union high school on the evening of January 27. Tickets for this affair are available at the market of John Gray. The public is invited to attend.

A chicken dinner will be served at 7 o'clock and this will be followed by a program and talks by leaders in the work.

139 MARRIAGE LICENSES ARE DECLARED VOID

After all, the laugh seems to be on the California legislators, who recently passed a law designed to relieve anxious parents from frantic pursuits after fly by night youngsters who were trying to get married without permission.

At least that is the case so far as Orange county is concerned, it was revealed today. A count just completed shows that 139 marriage license applications at the local bureau have become defunct. In other words licenses were not issued to the applicants.

But the smile lies in the fact that only seven girls and eight boys were represented in this number. Furthermore in four of these cases the youngsters had secured written authority from their parents to go ahead with the wedding. And then for some unrecorded reason, they didn't do it, and the licenses never were claimed.

The age of doubt and indecision seems to set in after the couples become old enough to marry of their own free will, if the records are read correctly. For 108 girls between 18 and 30 and 95 boys between 21 and 30 have shied away from marriage after going so far as to link their names on application blanks.

In this period the girls seem to be less willing than their swains. Here the records fall down, for they do not tell whether the prospective better halves have located more attractive or simply prefer the single life.

After the 30 mark has been left behind, however, the girls seem to be more agreeable to the marriage prospect, while the men seem inclined to prolong the bachelor days. Only 16 women in this group have failed to complete the program, while 24 men have omitted to place their names on the dotted line.

This situation continues until the age of 40 is reached. Between 41 and 50 the records show that 11 men and nine women have allowed their licenses to be shelved, while between 51 and 60, six men and three women fall into this class.

Three men and three women over the age of 61 apparently decided to spend the remainder of their days without further encumbrances and left their permits to fall into disuse.

The oldest man to leave the trail leading toward marriage was 73, while the oldest woman was 62. The youngest man to fail to join the ranks of the Benedicts was 17 and the youngest girl who remained single was 15.

CHANGE MEETINGS OF HEALTH CENTER

BREA, Jan. 16.—Meetings of the Brea child health center, scheduled for the first and third Tuesdays of the month, have been changed to the first and third Thursdays the next meeting to be held in the kindergarten room of the Laurel grammar school Jan. 19.

Dr. Ethel Andrews, associated with the White Memorial hospital in Los Angeles, will have the work of the clinic in charge each week and she is to be assisted by Mrs. Leora Cuming, representing the local Legion auxiliary, Miss Woodruff, supervisor of county health nursing; Miss Jones, district health nurse, and Mrs. Wayner, local school nurse.

Mayor Leaves Big Fortune To Poor

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 16.—Nathan Barnett, former Mayor, believed that no man should have more than $1,000,000. Whenever his fortune exceeded that he gave his surplus to charity. His will leaves his $700,000 estate to charity and poor relatives.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, lax, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All Druggists.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. But what you like, 10c, 25c, 50c.—Adv.

ASSERTS YOUTH OF TODAY NOT UNDERSTOOD

Declaring it to be his belief that the youth of today is the most maligned and misunderstood generation of any age, Bruce Findley, assistant superintendent of the city schools of Los Angeles, delivered an address which met with the hearty approval of the Fourth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers, in session Saturday, in the First Baptist church.

Young, dynamic, and overflowing with contagious humor, Findley easily captured his audience with his forceful arguments. His conclusions, drawn from personal experience with 16,000 students in the Los Angeles schools, were that if the youth of today is laying an exaggerated emphasis on the mere joy of living, it is simply because the parents of today are making possible the environments in which this youth is thrown.

"Cancel your subscriptions to the yellow press; refuse to patronize the salacious pictures shown; actions, not resolutions are needed," declared Findley.

Although Mrs. F. O. McCulloch could not be present because of the critical illness of her husband, and Lieut. Gov. Burton Fitts also was obliged to cancel his address because of a personal indisposition, the convention program was held to be one of the most successful in the history of the district.

Chief Standing Bear and his niece, Mrs. Dittmar, presented an Americanization program at the morning session which furnished a practical demonstration of the possibilities for citizenship possessed by the American Indian. Standing Bear eloquently pleaded for the return of the simple home life as the greatest safeguard for the adolescent youth, and commended the Parent-Teacher association for its efforts in seeking to provide instruction on the reservation for the Indian children, instead of their being sent away to school.

The Misses Huesch, of Orange, two talented youngsters, provided a delightful program of violin and harp music during the morning session. At the noon luncheon 364 delegates were served under the capable direction of Mrs. Roy Beall and the hostess committees from the twelve local associations in the Santa Ana city council.

Guests of the district who were introduced at this time included Ted Craig, past commander of the Orange County American Legion council; Charles Van Wyck, present commander of Santa Ana post; Mayor F. L. Furinton, Supt. J. A. Cranston, and County Superintendent R. P. Mitchell; Mrs. C. C. Noble and Mrs. George Tilton, state officers; Horace Fine, H. A. Lake and a number of others. Songs of greeting were given under the leadership of Miss Pearl Nicholson and Mrs. Frances Beeson.

The afternoon session opened with the singing of America by the audience, with Dale Hamilton Evans at the organ. Following the rich melody of the song came one of the most impressive ceremonies ever held in a district convention. Chief Standing Bear, Ted Craig, and F. L. Furinton were escorted to the platform by a troop of Eagle Scouts, where Roland Dye, executive of Boy Scouts, conducted the exaltation of the Scout code and the symbolic passing of the torch light from one member of a troop to another, and presented each man with the badge which is worn by thousands of members in fifty-four countries of the world. These men are the only honorary members ever received by the Orange County Boy Scouts and were accorded the honor because of signal service rendered the cause of Scouting.

The next quarterly convention was announced for the second Saturday in April and will be held in Buena Park.

Brea Woman's Club Arranges Session Jan. 24

BREA, Jan. 16.—Members of the literary section of the Brea Woman's club will be hostesses at the next regular meeting of the club January 24, when Mrs. Harry Sears, county chairman of literature, will take charge of the program.

Sessions of the literary section, interrupted during the holidays, are to be resumed, the next meeting to be held with Mrs. Phoebe Spensley, chairman, on the evening of January 17.

The annual reciprocity luncheon of the club is scheduled for the second meeting in April.

It has been decided to give a series of teas and card parties in the homes of club members for the purpose of adding to the club treasury, the first to be given by Mrs. Fannie Alkire during the early part of February.

160 ATTEND BIBLE CLASS ON SUNDAY

One hundred and sixty-two men attended the regular Sunday session of the Men's Community Bible class yesterday morning at the West Coast Walker theater when they heard a lecture on China, delivered by W. H. Worley, head of the University of Poochow.

Mr. Worley has spent his life in China and his talk relative to present day conditions in China was most interesting.

The Rev. and Mrs. D. L. McGriff, of the colored Baptist church here sang several spiritual songs as part of the entertainment program. They sang "Oh Mary, Don't You Weep"; "I Want To Be Ready to Walk in Jerusalem Just Like John"; and others. Mrs. McGriff and Mrs. A. A. Floyd sang a duet, "Every Time I Feel the Spirit I Will Pray."

LECTURER WILL GIVE ADDRESS HERE TUESDAY

Kirby Page, widely known world-traveler, lecturer, and advocate of world peace, will be heard in two addresses in Santa Ana Tuesday evening. He will give an address at the Congregational church at 8 o'clock in the evening, which is open to the general public.

Previous to that, he will address a joint meeting of the Junior College Y. M. C. A. organizations of Santa Ana and Fullerton, at a dinner meeting at 6:30.

Mr. Page is coming to Santa Ana at the invitation of the Junior College Y. M. C. A., and will speak under their auspices.

World wide attention has been attracted by the outspoken stand of Kirby Page on matters of international relations. He is one of the leading advocates of peace, and since the close of the World War, he has been a consistent opponent of militarism. He is the editor of the magazine, The World of Tomorrow, and is the author of a number of books dealing with social and political matters.

On account of his prominence, and especially because of the vigorous opposition which some of his views have aroused, it is anticipated by the junior college men that a large number of local people will wish to hear him, and it is on that account that they have planned this public address. Melvin Harter, president of the Junior College Y. M. C. A., has the matter in charge.

DEXTER R. BALL ELECTED HEAD COUNTY MEDICS

Dr. Dexter R. Ball, Santa Ana, was elected president of the Orange County Medical association at the annual meeting of the organization held at the Hotel Clubhouse here on Friday evening.

Dr. Ball has been secretary-treasurer of the association for the past five years. Other officers chosen were Dr. E. J. Steen, Fullerton, vice president, and Dr. F. Harold Gobar, Fullerton, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. J. L. Clark, of Santa Ana, officiated as toastmaster and installed the new officers.

Dr. C. D. Ball, father of the new president, is the only remaining charter member of the organization created 35 years ago, and he gave a short talk, in which he recalled characters and incidents of past days. Mrs. R. A. Cushman and Dr. G. M. Trille made short addresses.

The Rev. George Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, Santa Ana, gave the main address of the evening, his subject being "Hospital Mindfulness."

SOUTHERN PACIFIC EARNINGS RECORD

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Gross earnings of the Southern Pacific railroad for 1927 approximate the largest on record, according to a statement issued by William Sproul, president, in the current issue of the Railway Age. Crops and business conditions in 1927 were generally good throughout territory served by the railroad, according to Sproul, who predicts the company traffic volume for the present year will compare favorably with that of last year.

Dr. Edmund Mills To Make Address

Rose growers will be glad to know that another lecture has been arranged by the local Y. M. C. A. for the benefit and information of amateur rosarians, with the aid of Dr. E. M. Mills.

On next Friday evening, January 20, there will be presented in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. a lecture on "The What, the When, and the How of Pruning," given by Forrest L. Elliott, president of the Rose Society of San Diego. This lecture will be of the most practical interest to amateur rose growers who desire to learn how to make their roses bloom more freely.

According to Dr. Mills, Mr. Elliott will bring a rose bush with him to the meeting, which he will prune in demonstration of his advice and suggestions. He will attempt to answer questions which may be raised, and will undoubtedly have information which will be helpful on many points.

This lecture will be open to the public, free of charge, and all men and women who care to enjoy it will be welcome.

ORANGE COUNTY HAS 4,199,663 CITRUS TREES

The first complete census of citrus trees ever taken in Orange county was made public today by A. A. Brock, horticultural commissioner, and reveals the fact that there are 4,199,663 orange, lemon and grapefruit trees in this section.

The survey shows that all are bearing except 887,497, many of which will be yielding within a year or two.

Valencia oranges are the most numerous and there are 2,752,375 of these golden fruit trees dotted over the county. Eureka lemons follow with a total of 547,466. Navel oranges are responsible for 73,480 units in the record, while 12,405 grape fruit trees were counted.

There are 8680 St. Michael orange trees, 2936 Mediterranean lemons, 6650 Lisbon lemon trees, 3714 Villa Franca trees and 734 tangerine trees.

The acreage devoted to the several varieties is as follows: Valencia oranges, 87,938 1/2 bearing, 11,215 1/2 non-bearing, total 49,154 1/2; Navel oranges, bearing 981 1/2, non-bearing 9, total 990 1/2; St. Michael oranges, bearing 48 1/2 acres; Mediterranean lemons, bearing 34 1/2; Eureka lemons, bearing 628 1/2, non-bearing, 812, total 780 1/2; Lisbon lemon trees, bearing 89, non-bearing, 11, total 104; Villa Franca lemon trees, bearing 51; grapefruit trees, bearing 93 1/2, non-bearing, 50 1/2, total 144 1/2; tangerines, bearing 8 1/2, non-bearing 2, total 10 1/2.

MEN AND AFFAIRS

By WILLIAM HARD
Special Correspondent
Copyright, 1928, by The Consolidated Press Association

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—We like to read about the little moments of great men. Yet the little moments of great men are just exactly like the little moments of any man. There is really nothing in them that makes the world any different from what it was. What matters is the big moments of any man, whether he is big or little. In those great moments he has ideas that change the lives of his fellow men. A few illustrations of Washington's daily chances of bureaucratic routine and of sudden mental upset, here follow:

Requa, Mark L. Oil man, general director of the oil division of the United States fuel administration during the great war. Has pondered deeply and laboriously on how to conserve the rapidly diminishing petroleum resources of the United States. Has at last evolved a bill. Idea is that he would create a federal oil board with power not to act but to authorize. The acting, the initiating, is left to private enterprise. When private people want to conserve the oil in the ground of the United States get together and think up any plan for doing it, they will approach the federal oil board. Their plan is bound to have in it something of co-operation, something of what might be called an illegal conspiracy under the Sherman Anti-Trust law. If the board thinks that the plan is contrary to the public interest, it will be able to forbid it. If it thinks that it will be able to authorize and sanction it. Thus we might get some sort of common sense about economics compared with legislation in the matter of oil. Is Mr. Requa a great man? What is a great man? How do we know? We only know that Mr. Requa has had a great idea.

Kerr, Phillip. Used to be principal political secretary of David Lloyd George when Mr. Lloyd George was prime minister of Britain. Has been staying at the Canadian legation in Washington for the last few days. Talks about the recent naval arms conference between Britain and the United States. Points out the different naval needs of the two countries. Britain happens to need a lot of small cruisers. We happen to need relatively big cruisers. There is no way of combining these two needs into one tonnage agreement between the two countries. Why should we quarrel because our needs are different and an agreement is impossible? Let each proceed according to common sense and according to human unformulated but actual friendliness. We almost always nowadays think that friendliness must be written into a treaty. But if a treaty cannot in the circumstances be made, why not a little ordinary accommodation and reciprocity without a vestige of a treaty? Why not? That is the fundamental new notion that Mr. Kerr has introduced into Washington.

Mallory, Otto. A Philadelphian. For years and years he has been trying to get some sense and foresight into our management of federal public works. He has been concerned about the problem of unemployment. There are public works that undoubtedly some time have to be done, such as roads and flood prevention structures. Why not do them when private employment is scarce? Why not use public employment then to stimulate private purchasing power and therefore the revival of private industry? At last Mr. Mallory and Mr. Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, have brought their ideas together into proposed legislation. Senator Jones has introduced a bill which makes large authorizations for public works with the proviso following:

"No appropriation shall be made pursuant to the authorization contained in this act until such time as the president finds and communicates to the congress that the volume of contracts awarded for construction work in the United States has fallen 20 per cent for a three months' period below the average of the corresponding three months' period of 1926, and 1927."

This is a bill which may have more to do with keeping every reader of this dispatch occupied in work and prosperous income than any other bill introduced into this session of congress.

Are Mr. Mallory and Senator Jones great men? What is the definition of great men? This writer is convinced that there are no great men. There are only men who have great moments and great interludes in the course of being just like the rest of us.

PLAN NEW HOMES IN MIDWAY TRACT

MIDWAY CITY, Jan. 16.—Improvements in Midway City are going rapidly forward and plans for further building are being made. The J. A. Ward house, which will be occupied by the owner, is the first to near completion in the new forty-acre tract on the east and this is being plastered now. The Gulick house is ready for the plasterers to begin work.

Two houses of English structure being put up by Contractor Pierson are under way, also in the new division. Next week, C. H. Huyler, local contractor, will start the construction of his own home, which is to be of brick veneer in Old English style. The house will be located on Van Buren street in the old division.

The five-room home of Spanish architecture being put up by Alfred Lutken is expected to be ready for occupancy within a month.

FRANK MASON HEADS COUNTY COMMITTEE

Frank Mason, of Brea, was named chairman of the Orange county advisory committee for aeronautics at a meeting of the group at Ketter's cafe Saturday noon, it was reported today. Antares, of Newport Beach, was named secretary of the committee. The selection of the officers of the committee was the first step taken by the body which is composed of Hugh T. Thompson, of Orange; M. E. Allen, of Garden Grove; Judge F. C. Drumm, of Santa Ana; Dargatz, and Mason.

Ways and means of filling the needs of aviation in Orange county will be the aim of the committee. The group already has gone on record as favoring a course in aeronautics in public schools. The committee will meet again tomorrow noon at Ketter's cafe for a short session and later will appear before the board of supervisors with a report on their progress.

Canada To Peru Road Is Boosted

CLEVELAND, Jan. 16.—To give impetus to the construction of an international highway from Montreal, Canada, to Valparaiso, Peru, delegates from Cuba, Chile, Peru, Mexico, Colombia and the Dominican Republic here attending sessions of the American Road Builders' association, formed a Pan-American unit.

The delegates adopted a resolution asking the association to give these countries the benefit of its engineering experience in the construction of the highway.

Charles M. Babcock, president of the association, indicated that permission would be granted the delegates to form the group which would be a part of the association. The delegates voted to send invitations to the governments of Ecuador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica asking them to join in the unit and to make provisions for the construction of the highway in their countries.

Man Held Guilty On Drunk Charge

Charged with being drunk after he was arrested for asserted attempt to break up his wife's birthday party, E. Janke, 40, was found guilty in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday afternoon.

He was ordered to jail without bail until Monday morning, when sentence will be passed. Janke was arrested by Deputy Sheriff A. L. Steward on West Seventeenth street west of Westminster Thursday.

CONFERENCE OF SCHOOL HEADS IS HELD HERE

J. A. Cranston, superintendent of Santa Ana schools, summarized today the work of a conference held at the board of education offices in which 11 superintendents from Southern California participated.

Cranston stated that, following the conference, he had decided that Santa Ana should begin to consider the possibility of installing cafeterias in the elementary schools of this city. It is just as important for the youngsters there to have hot meals at noon as it is for the older students, he said. Many of them are not able to go home because their parents are working all day, he explained.

The question of fixing financial responsibility for cafeteria management was discussed. A new law has been passed in respect to this situation and may be considerable help, Cranston stated.

The six four four plan of education came in for some animated discussion, particularly in its relation to the junior college. Superintendent W. L. Stephens, of Long Beach, cited objections to the present plan of putting but two years in the junior college.

Cranston summarized the advantages of the scheme used here.

"It gives the young people a chance to get their first two years of college work cheaply while they are at home and prepares them for outside college work," he said. "Furthermore, a large number of high school graduates who do not wish a four-year college course are able to get the additional education they desire at the junior college. Many do not know what line they wish to follow when they enter college. If they are spared the floundering at a large university, which many go through, their judgment can mature in the junior college. They can then arrange their future life more satisfactorily."

Questionnaires on salaries in high schools and on the period schedules in junior high schools were submitted.

DRIVE AGAINST FRUIT DEALERS BEING PLANNED

A. A. Brock, county horticultural commissioner, will co-operate with the department of agriculture in a drive against fruit dealers and grocers who are guilty of selling immature avocados, according to advice from Frank M. Kramer, supervisor, inspector of the Los Angeles office of the state department of agriculture.

A short crop and unusually high prices have made avocados such a tempting bait for thieves and unscrupulous dealers that the public is being seriously imposed upon by the widespread sale of immature fruit, according to Brock.

"The announcement is the last warning to dealers to get avocados only from responsible sellers," Brock said. "The plea of ignorance will not be accepted by inspectors, but when immature fruit is found on a stand the avocados will be seized and held and the dealer cited to appear in court. The law imposes a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500 or six months in jail for selling or having for sale avocados having less than 8 per cent of oil."

"The stolen and immature fruit is usually offered to dealers by peddlers who come direct to the store, according to inspectors. When dealers are offered suspicious looking fruit they should get the license number of the automobile or truck of the peddler and immediately telephone a report to me."

The county horticultural commissioner has available a chart for the protection of retail dealers which tells of the many varieties of avocados coming on the market and shows the season at which each variety is mature and saleable. Dealers and growers can secure these charts at his office.

"The quality of avocados offered on the local fruit stands is being closely watched since the recent windstorms," Brock said. "Last year large quantities of immature windfalls found their way onto the market following heavy winds, and close attention to enforcement of the maturity standard became necessary in order to prevent the sale of fruits containing less than the minimum oil content of 8 per cent allowed by law. As a result of the work done in this connection last year, the growers and fruit dealers have generally become familiar with the requirements of the law. In spite of the high prices being obtained for avocados this season, few attempts have been made to dispose of immature fallen fruits. The varieties now in season are Fuerte, Dorothea, Puebla and the Mexican varieties."

40,000 Alaskan Reindeer Held

AKLAK, Alaska, Jan. 16.—The greatest reindeer roundup in history is in progress here. Forty thousand reindeer are being worked through a corral under the supervision of the United States bureau of education.

A gigantic consolidation of reindeer herds is planned. Native herds totaling 15,000 animals and 35,000 deer belonging to Lapp owners are to be merged. The Eskimo organization is to be known as the Kuskokwim Reindeer company and the Lapp herds as the Pioneer Reindeer company.

The two companies plan to install their own meat cannery on the Kuskokwim river. Power barges, equipped with cold storage facilities, are planned to supply fresh reindeer meat.

GREAT BRITAIN MAY DECIDE TO WITHDRAW CO-OPERATION WITH U. S. ON RUM TRAFFIC

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

Copyright, 1928, by The Consolidated Press Association
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Great Britain may withdraw her co-operation in preventing rum running unless the treasury department appoints more responsible officers in charge of its coast guard cutters. Diplomatic conversations to this end are taking place between the state department and the British government. The latter is not satisfied with the working out of the Bahamas rum smuggling agreement. Ever since Britain voluntarily entered into this agreement nearly two years ago, smuggling from the Bahamas, once the chief source of bootleg liquor, has very materially decreased.

Not long ago, however, Great Britain received what she considered proof that the United States was not doing her part under the agreement. It happened that one "Larry" Christensen, commander of the coast guard cutter and a well known figure along the Florida coast, seized a British rum runner with its cargo of liquor. Some time after the same liquor is said to have been discovered back in the Bahamas, where it had started from in the possession of "Pop" Nestle, well known for his liquor negotiations in a southern waters.

The liquor, the British allege, had been seized by Christensen, supposedly in the performance of his duty, and then sold to bootleggers in the Bahamas. In other words, United States officials deliberately awarded all the pains which the British had taken to aid the United States.

This incident brought to a head many other grievances which the British had been nursing against the coast guard, and they took the matter up with the state department. Neither the state department nor the treasury is anxious to have the Bahamas agreement nullified. Without it, it would be almost impossible to prevent smuggling along a Florida coast. Although its terms have never been published, this agreement states that by it the British go to extreme ends to cooperate with the United States.

First of all, they permit armed coast guard vessels to enter British territorial waters without special permission which is never permitted under international law. Without such a concession on the part of the British, a coast guard cutter could have to desist from chasing rum runners when it once got inside British waters and steam off to get permission from the port authorities to continue the chase. Under the Bahamas agreement each coast guard cutter gets permission to enter British waters and for all to chase rum runners after which it does not have to report again. The cutter cannot actually seize British vessels inside their own territorial waters but it can seize British vessels in the Bahamas. The British have found it fully pointed out that it was entirely voluntary and was subject to withdrawal if not found to work satisfactorily in practice.

And since the Christensen incident the British have found it expedient to give subtle reminders of the terms on which they entered into the Bahamas agreement. The treasury department has been inclined to defend Christensen and there has been some question whether, since he is a United States government official, he shall be surrendered to the British government for trial.

The British have suggested that in order to avoid future abuse, each coast guard cutter should be manned by a commissioned officer, rather than by a non-commissioned officer. The treasury department has not yet seen fit to adopt this suggestion although the state department is anxious to keep the British satisfied with the Bahamas agreement. Here the matter now stands. Negotiations are still continuing. The present Bahamas agreement expires on March 27.

CONGRESSMEN ARE TESTED BY PSYCHOLOGIST

By HARVEY THOMAS
Special Correspondent

Copyright, 1928, by The Consolidated Press Association

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Legislative anthropology as the basis for determining the physical and psychological status of the nation is the latest wrinkle being proposed to congress. Dr. Arthur Macdonald, Harvard and Johns Hopkins alumnus, is behind the movement, and he has assurances of co-operation from many leading members of the medical and surgical fraternity of Washington and Baltimore.

Dr. Macdonald who is a widely known psychologist, has his way, congress will never again have to apologize for its sine of omission, or commission. In fact this is the very bait he is offering in support of a bill to make him legislative anthropologist of the United States at a salary of $5000 a year but so far he is finding it difficult to secure a congressional fundamentalist to act as sponsor for his proposition.

Dr. Macdonald's plan seems very simple—at least to him. It provides for an annual scientific study of man. He wants that study to be general in its scope, but realises the somewhat difficult idea of a large psychologist making such a study of every man in the United States. So he would study congressmen, first, on the assumption that a congressman represents 100,000 constituents and that they have picked him as representative of themselves. Therefore, his bumps and his reflexes might be said to be similarly representative.

Dr. Macdonald has been busy all fall and so far this winter with his idea. He has visited nearly every congressman and in many instances has prevailed upon them to take the tests. These tests have been both psychological and physiological. In support of these examinations Dr. Macdonald has expressed the belief that he will be able to strike an average of congressional mentality and by so doing forecast the possibilities of legislation. This last is rather an unique offering in the legislative halls for some of the more astute leaders have reckoned mentality as of less importance than craftiness in the advance or retreat of legislation. But Dr. Macdonald says the legislative status of congressmen is concerned, not with craftiness but with the predominant traits of lineage or hereditary as well as the fundamental anthropological measurements of the body, and what may be more important, the health or hygienic condition of the congressman himself.

In fact, Dr. Macdonald himself a frail 100 pounder, asserts that a sick congressman cannot be expected to be of the same value to his constituency as a healthy representative, no matter how healthy and clever his secretary may be. And while on the subject of health Dr. Macdonald insists that the anthropological measurements he proposes will be a basis for the health of the nation.

In other words, Dr. Macdonald expects the anthropological tests to make all congressmen healthy and therefore send them home, between sessions, as living examples of what their constituents can also become if they follow the same rigid anthropological rules.

In expressing the hope that the proposed study will eventually spread, Dr. Macdonald says his study will be confined to successful men only. So he selected congressmen, but he says, "In all such investigations of man, whether insane or genius, talented or imbecile, virtuous or criminal, defective or degenerate, in short whether normal or abnormal, the scientific methods are the same otherwise it would be impossible adequately to strike an average."

MAN ARRAIGNED ON ACCIDENT CHARGE
A. M. Olivera Jr., resident of Myones, was arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court on a charge of failure to stop and render aid after an accident. His preliminary examination was set for January 17 at 9 a. m.

The arrest of Olivera was made by State Traffic Officers Adams and Yoder, after the machine said to have been driven by the Myones man ran down James Haynes of 1314 North Garvey street, Thursday at Seventeenth and Parton streets. The boy was riding a bicycle at the time.

Haynes was not badly hurt and was taken home by witnesses, who are said to have declared that the driver of the automobile made no effort to stop his machine.

COUNTY LEADS CALIFORNIA IN ORANGE ACREAGE, REPORT OF COMMISSIONER REVEALS

Though Orange county is one of the smallest in California, it now leads all others in the number of acres devoted to oranges, according to a survey just completed through the office of A. A. Brock, horticultural commissioner, and made public today.

"We are ahead of any county in acres and 11,225 1/2 non-bearing acres. The most recent report that we have shows that San Bernardino county has 39,459 acres bearing and 763 acres non-bearing. Los Angeles county has 39,885 acres bearing and 4500 acres non-bearing. Riverside county has 16,500 acres bearing and 303 acres non-bearing. Tulare county has 16,881 acres bearing and 46 acres non-bearing.

At the present time this county also has the second largest lemon acreage, his report shows. Brock pointed out that there still is a large amount of land ideally located and adapted for citrus culture, which has not been planted. With adequate development of water, the orange acreage will continue to expand, he predicted.

L. A. County Second
The total number of acres set out to oranges is 50,225. Los Angeles county is second, with 64,995 acres, and San Bernardino third, with 40,232 acres.

"While the survey shows that some of the other counties are still a step ahead of Orange county in number of bearing acres, the figures indicate that, in a year or two, when some of the non-bearing land begins to produce, this section will be several thousand acres ahead of any county in California in bearing acreage as well," Brock stated.

Orange county has 39,003 bearing acres, while Los Angeles county boasts 30,885, and San Bernardino county 39,459 acres of bearing land.

Climate Held Ideal
"This, I believe, shows first that we have a climate well adapted to the production of citrus fruits; second, that our growers have attained a degree of success which has stimulated the development and extension of the industry; and, third, that we have soil that is capable of supplying the necessary plant food to give both quantity and quality production," Brock said.

Noted For Fruit
"Orange county has long been noted for the quality of oranges she produces and markets. She has a particularly enviable reputation for producing high quality Valencia oranges. Fairly accurate figures have been compiled on the acreage and production annually, but it has never been possible to get accurate information on the ages, varieties and number of trees. While some of the organized shipping concerns can supply you with information on the number of bearing acres, most of the growers wait until their trees are producing fairly well before they join such organizations, consequently, there has been no accurate available information on the non-bearing acres of citrus in this county. It has been necessary to estimate the acreage handled by some shipping organizations and therefore there has always been a fear that the figures might be exaggerated.

Accurate Record Sought
"This office has been striving for several years to get an accurate record of the number, age and variety of trees in each of the inspectors' districts. This work had to be done rather on a piecemeal program worked in on pest control and other inspection work. We believe these figures will prove of interest to a great many people because they show that the figures previously given out, which were in a measure estimates, were not exaggerated and the true story is depicted by the results of this complete survey.

"The most interesting thing about the industry in this county is a study of its development. We find, in going back a few pages in history, that in 1909 we had in this county 5346 bearing acres of oranges. In 1918 we were given credit for having 10,600 acres of oranges, and this survey, just completed, shows that we now have an acreage of 39,003 bearing acres and 11,225 1/2 non-bearing acres, making a total of 50,228 1/2 acres of oranges. The older reports above referred to fail to show the non-bearing acreage so no comparisons can be made in that respect.

Increase Revealed
"We can best judge the strides that have been made by comparisons with other counties. In 1909, San Bernardino county had the largest bearing orange acreage of any county in California, which was at that time 21,680. Los Angeles county had, on the same date, 18,098 bearing acres. Riverside county had 11,455 bearing acres, and Tulare county had 8902 bearing acres. In 1918, San Bernardino county had 33,851 bearing acres of oranges, Los Angeles county had 26,300 bearing acres and Tulare county had 19,349 bearing acres. The last figures we have of our own county show a total of 39,003 bearing acres.

TWO SANTA ANA BOYS TO TOUR SOUTH AMERICA

The lure of the wanderlust, which started the two Santa Ana junior college graduates, Henrik Van Rensselaer and Kenneth Schroll, on their tour to the Orient at close of college last June, still persists and now the two youths are making plans to sail for South America and eventually to Europe.

Van Rensselaer, who has returned home for a brief period, revealed that he and Schroll intend to visit every continent on the globe except Australia, before they stop trotting.

At the present time, Schroll is in San Francisco, where Van Rensselaer left him when he was called home.

During the seven months' tour of the Pacific, the college students first went to Alaska and then shipped out for the Orient. When they left on their adventure, each had $50 and upon returning here they had $200 each that they had saved above their expenses. Most of their funds were made in the Alaskan fish canneries.

Many interesting happenings are recounted by Van Rensselaer as he reviewed his trip.

Two padlocks on their quarters did not prevent the Chinese from breaking in and stealing cameras, clothing and almost everything movable at Shanghai.

The Chinese swarmed out to the boat like rats," Van Rensselaer declared. "If we kept them off the gang plank, they swarmed up the ropes and if we kept them off the ropes they came aboard on hooked poles."

After viewing the misery and poverty of the Chinese, Van Rensselaer said that he had impressed upon him the contrast of conditions with the United States.

The ship Cordova was taken by the two boys when they sailed for Washington Bay, Alaska, for the first leg of their journey. There they worked for two months in the herring plots and the salmon canneries. The trip back to Seattle was made in a 40-foot fishing smack. For six days, the wanderers stayed around the docks looking for a chance to sail out for the Orient. Finally they were taken on the Cuprum, an 8000-ton freighter as deck boys.

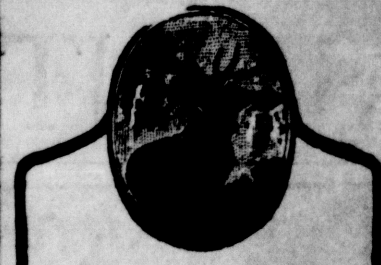

During the first few days of the voyage across the Pacific both were sick.

The secrets of piloting the ship were taught them and during the rest of the trip they were quartermasters at the wheel.

Japan presented a highly civilized nation to the students at their stop. From Japan the ship went to China, the Philippine Islands and then to British North Borneo. A cargo of logs, lumber, flour and canned milk was disposed of during the trip and a cargo of lumber and shredded coconut was brought back to the states. On the return trip, the ship also brought back a collection of souvenirs, including silk Chinese scarves, wooden relics, chinaware and other articles that the two Santa Ana youths had procured.

SAINT BASKETBALL SHOWING ENCOURAGING.

Rickard Organizes New Ring Tourney

DON'T BLAME NEW YORK
C. C. Pyle and Tim Mara claim they have succeeded in putting professional football across in New York.

No figures were quoted for the public board of directors, but there is no reason to suspect the gentlemen of whistling out of a tough spot because at this time last year Mara was frank enough to admit that his toy, the New York Giants, caused him to go on the nose for $60,000 and Pyle and his boy, Red Grange, confessed that they had been disappointed when they counted on the cash.

What of it? It might be asked. What if professional football does go over in New York?

New York, while we never were a member of the chamber of commerce, is not such a sucker town as legend would have you believe. That six-day bike race laugh that is thrown at New York is like the Ford funnies, the mother-in-law quips and prohibition jokes which have been barred from the city variety circuits.

It is not an indication of a rotten town. It is the registration of real enthusiasm on a large part of a population that is genuinely interested in the cycling game.

CAUSE OF POPULARITY
It was interesting and significant also to read recently in the public print of a voting contest conducted by a Paris periodical to determine the most popular athlete in France. The winner was Lucien Michard, the professional bike riding champion.

Rene Lacoste, the world's international tennis champion, was the closest to him but more than a thousand votes in the rear.

Bike riding holds the same popularity in Belgium, in Italy, in Holland and in other foreign countries and when you stop to calculate the number of New York residents of Latin and foreign extraction you may realize why the silly six-day bike races pay.

New York won't fall for everything. Thumbs have been turned down so much on wrestling that Mons. Jacques Curley, the greatest piano-mover magnate in the world, had to give it up and turn to boxing.

Wrestling, too, had principally foreign patronage but the foreigners soured on the sport and quit going.

Professional tennis was good enough for only one shot and numerous trick stunts failed to get a rise out of the public.

In braving the act of pioneers in trying to sell professional football in New York, Pyle and Mara were told that it was impossible. But Pyle and Mara will take a shot on anything and they are not public benefactors, or celebrated philanthropists.

WARNED AGAINST IT
They were told that professional football depended for its life on star players who were ballyhooed off the college gridiron and that there weren't enough star players to go around.

They were told that the obliging foreign element would not dig in the pocket because if so few natives were familiar with what was really happening on the field with all those trick rules the poor foreigner wouldn't know what it was all about.

They were told that there was too much high class college football in New York and within easy reaching distance and that there were no grads or "two sheets to the wind" undergraduates to go out and whoop it up with the dear old Glans or the dear old Yanks.

The success of Pyle and Mara in other lines of endeavor has been based largely upon their willingness to bet they were not wrong. Gamblers say there is a percentage in betting the other fellow he is wrong unless he wants to bet you that next Monday won't be the day after next Sunday.

Mara, operating in 1925 as a rival of Pyle's, lost money for a number of reasons. There were conflicts in the schedule, the weather was atrocious and Grange was still the big shot.

NEVER RIVAL COLLEGIANS
But Mara said he wasn't going to let his dough lie in the graveyard; he was going to get the shovel after it. He couldn't get a Grange or a Friedman or one of those other big names, but he got himself together a lot of good players, shook hands with Pyle and went to it.

Grange had a bad season this year on account of injuries, but the Yanks drew well nevertheless. The Glans, with Jack McBride and "Hinky" Haines, developed a personal following among which McBride and Haines had personal rooting sections.

"Pro football never will be a rival to the college game," Pyle said. "There's room for both of them, as I contended about tennis. College football games in and around New York have turned into private affairs for which a lot of real football enthusiasts can't get a ticket."

"We drew a lot of customers who just wanted to see what the game was like and I believe we turned them into fans of our own. Even the college men who went out to laugh at it saw that it wasn't a burlesque. We had a lot of coon skin coats and regulars and you know what that means."

SUPPLIES PLAY 11-INNING TIE WITH STOVALLS

Joe Rodgers' Republic Supplies of Huntington Beach had another terrific contest behind them today, 1 to 1 tie with George Stovall's Marine Oil company club at North Long Beach yesterday, which went down on the Beach and Harbor league rolls as one of the most sensational of the season. The game went 11 innings.

This was a hectic pitcher's duel between Herb Salverson, veteran Huntington Beach gunner, and Glen Gabler, the youngster who is owned by the Los Angeles Angels. Salverson allowed 7 hits and whiffed 10 while Gabler was nipped for 8 hits and fanned 12.

Republic Supplies got their run in the third when Salverson was safe on an infield error and came around on Beeson's double. The Marine Oils tied it up in the eighth.

Rodgers leads his club against the Shell Refiners at Huntington Beach next Sunday.

TEX ON TRAIL OF OPPONENTS FOR CHAMPION

Promoter Not Discouraged By Failure of Sharkye, Heeneey to Show Class

BY FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Although Tex Rickard's 1928 model eliminator (F. O. B. rindside) broke down in most distressing fashion right in the middle of the road to what he calls the next "Battle of the Century," the promoter has lost no time in cranking up and starting the machine going all over again.

Tonight, two of Tex's reorganized band of mutual eliminators will appear in tune up bouts by way of refurbishing public interest in the process.

The fight was to have shoved Jack Sharkye into the limelight as the logical contender proved a painful fiasco when Tom Heeneey held the Bostonian to a draw. Every one except Rickard agreed that both men were eliminated.

New Tourney Organized
He hurriedly organized a new tournament and named Sharkye, Heeneey, Jack Delaney, Paulino Urvudun, Johnny Risko, Knute Hanson and Jack Dorval as participants.

Delaney and Paulino start the ball rolling tonight, but in widely separated rings. Naturally, two such able eliminators are not to be brought together hurriedly.

Instead, Delaney, the former light heavyweight champion, who holds the distinction of being the only man ever eliminated by Jimmy Maloney of Boston, will practice on Sully Montgomery of Chicago.

Delaney probably will stop Montgomery within a few rounds, after which the Bridgeport boxer will journey over to Boston to pop over Jack Humbeck, of Belgium, later in the week.

Paulino Faces Keeley
Paulino meets Ed Keeley, 200-pound southpaw from Boston, at the Broadway arena tonight. The Basque has run out on three previous engagements with Keeley, which lends a certain air of piquancy to the affair.

If Paulino gets past the hub giant, the Masque will be reintroduced in the elimination tourney proper. There he may meet the winner of a trial affair between Dorval and Hanson.

Delaney, after he has defeated Montgomery and Humbeck, will prepare for a bout with Johnny Risko early next month. This pair met twice, Delaney winning in Madison Square Garden and Risko handing Jack a pasting in Cleveland.

This, of course, is one of the great drawbacks to the present elimination tournament. Most of the contenders have met, and by their poor performances, became mutually eliminated from serious consideration as fit opponents for Gene Tunney.

FISTIC CHAMPIONS MAY BE SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Thomas E. Donohue, president of the National Boxing association, has announced that three champions—Sammy Mandell, lightweight; Mickey Walker, middleweight; and Joe Dundee, welterweight—must defend their titles within 30 days or be suspended by the association.

The fighters are suspended by the state athletic commission for failure to defend their titles at least once within six months. Suspension by the N. B. A. will keep the champions on the inactive list in a greater portion of the country.

Northwestern And Wisconsin Leading

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—Wisconsin and Northwestern, each with a perfect average of three games won and none lost, led the Big Ten basketball standings as the third week of the season opened today.

Bowling News
Traveling league bowling matches scheduled for Santa Ana teams this week follow:
Monday (Mercantile)—Philadelphia Caps vs. Hancock Gasoline at Santa Ana; Alhambra Gasoline vs. Kelly Roofing company at Santa Ana; Bear Cafe at Anaheim.
Tuesday (Women's)—Virginia Cafe vs. Van Antwerp's at Santa Ana.
Wednesday (Commercial)—Santa Ana Lumber company vs. Bowlers Inn at Santa Ana.
Friday (Club)—Alex's Dry works vs. Santa Ana Furniture company at Santa Ana; Santa Ana Generals at Fullerton.

DUE TO STICK

Sent from the majors by Owner Phil Ball of the St. Louis Browns because he enjoyed eating breakfast in bed, Gene Robertson will be back in the majors again next year with the New York Yankees. He is expected to start the season at third base instead of the veteran Joe Dugan. Robertson enjoyed a big season with an American association club in 1927.

Friedman's Team Defeats Bulldogs

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Benny Friedman's Cleveland Bulldogs won from George Wilson's wildcats, 12 to 6, in a professional wildcat game. Wilson ran 59 yards for his team's score.

DONS TO FACE TROJAN FROSH TUESDAY NIGHT

Undismayed by their defeat at Pasadena in the first game of the Southern California Junior College conference season, Coach Walter Scott's Santa Ana Dons returned to basketball practice today for their next game, against Compton Friday.

The local college cagers, however, will be in fast company when they meet the University of Southern California freshman team in a curtain-raiser match to be played tomorrow night as a preliminary to the U.S.C. varsity-Fresno college game in Los Angeles. That fray will be the only practice match before the Compton encounter.

While the Dons were set on winning the game with Pasadena, their defeat has by no means broken their spirit, Coach Scott said today.

After the game, the Pasadena coach in a conversation with Coach Scott said "Well, you'll meet us again in the playoffs." If Santa Ana succeeds in completing the rest of the conference schedule without a defeat it is almost certain that the two ensembles will clash again with the conference title at stake.

For the game with the Trojan yearlings, Coach Scott will use virtually the same team that has come to be regarded as the first being considered in placing Elmer Beatty at forward to go in for Faris Edgar. Kenneth Kolkhorst will probably get a fling at forward, too. Those that will start are Edgar and Mearl Youel, at forwards; Ted Cook at center; and Bill Allee and Willard White at guards.

OXY, WHITTIER IN CONFERENCE LEAD

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—By keeping the records free of defeat in their games Saturday night, Occidental and Whittier had taken the lead in the Southern California conference basketball race today.

Oxy fought an uphill battle to nose out Redlands, 25 to 24 while Whittier had an easy time of it with Laverne and won 41 to 23. In the other game Pomona defeated Caltech 35 to 25. Occidental and Whittier have now won two games each.

Laverne and Pomona rank next with one victory and one defeat each. Redlands and San Diego have each been defeated in their only start. Caltech's defeat Saturday was its second.

SOUDERS ROARS TO VICTORY AT ASCOT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—George Souders roared to victory over Ralph De Palma in a two-hat match race at Ascot speedway here yesterday. In addition to winning the feature event of the speed program Souders managed to take first place in all the other auto races. When he circled the 5-8 mile oval in 27 3-5 seconds he broke the previous track record, which he held also, by one second, officials announced.

You'd Be SURPRISED!

BY BILLY EVANS

Shortstop Bill Hunnefeld of the Chicago White Sox had the distinction of playing in perhaps the most unique double-header ever staged. It was during the early days of his minor league career.

Back in 1923, Hunnefeld, then an outfielder and first sacker, was with the Montreal club of the Eastern Canada league. The date of the two freak games was May 24, 1923, and the place Montreal.

Here is the yarn as Hunnefeld told it to me:

"Talk about freak ball games, I played in two on the same day that I dare you even to tie for unusual happenings."

"I was with Montreal and we were playing Quebec a double-header. Montreal won the first game 3-0, our pitcher, whose name was Jones, having the better of a hurling duel with Schwab, six hits to five. No changes were made in the lineup."

"When we came on the field for the second game, exactly the same lineup was presented by both teams, the pitchers, Schwab and Jones, essaying to work the double bill."

"In this game Schwab reversed the result, shutting out Montreal 3-0. We made only two hits in the second battle, while Jones held Quebec to five, yet lost."

"I doubt if any other double header in the history of organized baseball was ever played through with the same nine men in each lineup, both games resulting in shutouts, each team winning one. 'Beat that if you can.'"

Blocked Kick Wins For Grange's Pros

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—A blocked kick enabled "Red" Grange's New York Yankees to defeat Ernie Nevers' Glens in a professional football game here yesterday, 7 to 6. Michaels blocked the boot and recovered on Nevers' 6-yard line from where the oval was packed over in four plays.

Chrysler's sensational rise from 27th to 3rd place in sales in 42 months is the result of a phenomenal public preference that has continuously demanded a record-breaking volume of quality motor cars.

Chrysler's tremendous production and rapid growth are the direct result of public recognition of value and savings which only Chrysler Standard Quality can provide.

You will then instantly recognize why Chrysler cars—by the most astounding value savings which result from a huge and rapidly growing public demand—are today more than the most marvelous motor car value in their respective price groups.

SEVEN NAMED ON PLANNING BODY AT BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 15.—Election of seven men to act as a city planning committee, and a talk by F. E. Bundy, of Santa Monica, featured the regular monthly meeting of the local chamber of commerce here last week. W. E. Mandeville, Dale H. Peters, Willis H. Warner, T. B. Talbot, J. K. McDonald, James S. Faragher and John H. Eder were named on the planning committee.

Bundy, wealthy Santa Monica man and owner of the Methodist camp ground in this city, advocated the acquisition of the beach front by the city. He predicted such a rapid growth of the coast section of Southern California during the next 10 years that it would be necessary for every city to own its own ocean frontage. Bundy pointed to the experience of Santa Monica in purchasing beach frontage. He declared that the city was offered the beach at $50 a front foot a few years ago but thought the price was too high and waited, recently purchasing it for $1500 a front foot.

The removal of idle oil wells and the establishment of restricted areas as soon as thorough tests have been made of the district, were other things advocated by the speaker.

The planning committee will start functioning at once. The committee was elected after the meeting had been presented to the chamber of commerce by Charles C. Boelter, mayor. One of the first objectives of the committee will be to prepare plans for a municipal airport.

Proceeding the business meeting a program was presented. Judge Chris Fann, chairman of the entertainment committee, was in charge of the program.

Short talks were made by Dale M. Peters and Mayor C. G. Boelter. Peters spoke on the subject of "Men and Money in Building a Community." Boelter spoke of "Some Things to Plan For."

Music was furnished by a number of groups. A saxophone quartet, under the direction of L. L. Gilmore presented a number of selections. Members of the quartet included Francis Hill, Walter Reed, Douglas McAdam and L. L. Gilmore.

Cleo Smith gave a number of clarinet solos and Lawrence Reed old gave whistling solos. Miss June Rime accompanied at the piano. Miss Margaret Smith played a number of violin selections, accompanied by Miss Nina Warner.

A string quartet was the featured attraction of the musical program, being composed of Henry Bohannon, Donald Shirley, Howard Fawcett, William McCormick, Charles Patrick and L. L. Gilmore. Miss Alma Hearn played the accompaniment.

The new officers were installed as follows: Floyd Gillis, president; Thurber Tinkham, vice president; Mrs. William Armfield, secretary-treasurer.

The next regular meeting will be held in the hall the first Wednesday in February.

LAGUNA LIONS CHARTERED AT CEREMONY

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 15.—Two hundred and eighty Lions and their guests welcomed the Laguna Lions into their attainment of full Laguna Beach Lions charter at a ceremony held Friday night, when the club received its charter from District Governor Dr. W. E. Wells, of Riverside. Lions from Whittier, Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton, Brea, Costa Mesa, Tustin and Santa Ana attended the banquet and program held in the Cabrillo ballroom.

Chief speakers of the evening were District Governor Jack Wells, who spoke on "Lions and the Future of the Club," and District Governor W. E. Wells, who spoke on "The Future of the Club." Dr. Wells presented the charter to George H. Thompson, president of the Laguna club.

In introducing Dr. Wells, Dr. Rowland said that the past year had seen 33 Lions clubs instituted, but that half of the present fiscal year nearly that number had already been established, indicating the rapid growth of clubs in the district, which comprised Hawaii, California and Nevada.

Dr. Wells complimented Orange county clubs on the county council, saying that the clubs had placed a new movement which was being watched with interest, and which had been instrumental in connecting clubs together more closely. He said that this method was being adopted by other clubs in this district, as it has done much to stimulate enthusiasm.

Within the next 30 days, said the district governor, seven Lions clubs will be given their charters, and two more have been organized within the last two weeks. He spoke of the formation of other councils.

Dr. Wells gave advice to the officers of the Laguna Lions, impressing on them the responsibility of their respective offices. He then presented the charter of the club and a gift American flag to Chairman George H. Thompson.

In his remarks, Thompson said that the club of the club was selecting the membership, and that each member was aware of what was expected of him.

Joe Skidmore, who made the address of welcome, then presented a paper made from a typewriter. Skidmore told of the coming 30 years of L. N. Brooks, familiarly known as Nate Brooks, his stepfather, who had visited the building of a city and who had always looked into the future. He thought it very appropriate that the gavel of the Lions club should be made from a tree planted by a man who had a similar idea of the future as the Lions do.

Jack Riley, past district governor, made a speaker of the evening, was greeted with much applause. He spoke joyfully of his experience as a Lion, then went into the ethical code and what he thought the ideals of Lionism would do.

On the program of the evening was the singing of America, all participating; invocation by the Rev. R. I. Brahama, of the Community Presbyterian church; address of welcome by Joe Skidmore and response by Victor G. Loly, of Anaheim, president of the Orange County council; trophies solo, Caesar Clinefelter, of Santa Ana; violin solo by Leon Burdick, accompanied by Mrs. F. J. Selwankovsky; solo by Madame Beatrice Bowman, grand opera singer, who responded time after time to accolades and songs by the Lions.

Victor G. Loly was master of ceremonies. Dancing finished the evening. The Lions club of Laguna Beach now numbers 32 members.

STOCKHOLDERS OF BEACH BANK NAME OFFICERS

SEAL BEACH, Jan. 15.—The fifth annual meeting of the stockholders of the California State bank, held this week, resulted in the selection of the following board of directors: J. C. Ord, James A. Graham, E. J. Hughes, Job J. Danni, Nelson McCook, W. J. Turner and W. D. Miller. The board immediately organized and selected as officers, W. O. Miller, president; C. A. Miller, cashier; J. C. Ord and J. J. Danni, vice presidents.

The most successful year since the organization of the bank was reported. Reports showed an increase of about 50 per cent in commercial accounts over a year ago and a 90 per cent increase in savings over the same period.

The Seal Beach bank is a local institution in that there are an even dozen stockholders represented and 90 per cent of the stock is owned in the city of Seal Beach.

OFFICERS FOR CITRUS PLANT ARE SELECTED

YORBA LINDA, Jan. 15.—The Yorba Linda Foothill Grove association held its annual meeting Saturday at the Woman's club house. A committee from the club served a dinner to the stockholders at noon and the dinner was followed by the business meeting.

L. L. Fisher was returned as manager. Under his management the packing house debt has been materially reduced and stockholders anticipate a prosperous year. Election of board members resulted in the following men being elected: F. E. Moll, president; J. H. Barton, Col. Honey, Henry Bakera, Ed. Kaub, S. McCracken and Carl Seamans, the latter being the only new member, who took the place of J. Patterson, resigned.

SEVEN NAMED ON PLANNING BODY AT BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 15.—Election of seven men to act as a city planning committee, and a talk by F. E. Bundy, of Santa Monica, featured the regular monthly meeting of the local chamber of commerce here last week. W. E. Mandeville, Dale H. Peters, Willis H. Warner, T. B. Talbot, J. K. McDonald, James S. Faragher and John H. Eder were named on the planning committee.

Bundy, wealthy Santa Monica man and owner of the Methodist camp ground in this city, advocated the acquisition of the beach front by the city. He predicted such a rapid growth of the coast section of Southern California during the next 10 years that it would be necessary for every city to own its own ocean frontage. Bundy pointed to the experience of Santa Monica in purchasing beach frontage. He declared that the city was offered the beach at $50 a front foot a few years ago but thought the price was too high and waited, recently purchasing it for $1500 a front foot.

The removal of idle oil wells and the establishment of restricted areas as soon as thorough tests have been made of the district, were other things advocated by the speaker.

The planning committee will start functioning at once. The committee was elected after the meeting had been presented to the chamber of commerce by Charles C. Boelter, mayor. One of the first objectives of the committee will be to prepare plans for a municipal airport.

Proceeding the business meeting a program was presented. Judge Chris Fann, chairman of the entertainment committee, was in charge of the program.

Short talks were made by Dale M. Peters and Mayor C. G. Boelter. Peters spoke on the subject of "Men and Money in Building a Community." Boelter spoke of "Some Things to Plan For."

Music was furnished by a number of groups. A saxophone quartet, under the direction of L. L. Gilmore presented a number of selections. Members of the quartet included Francis Hill, Walter Reed, Douglas McAdam and L. L. Gilmore.

Cleo Smith gave a number of clarinet solos and Lawrence Reed old gave whistling solos. Miss June Rime accompanied at the piano. Miss Margaret Smith played a number of violin selections, accompanied by Miss Nina Warner.

VANCE MADE PRESIDENT OF TUSTIN BANK

TUSTIN, Jan. 15.—C. A. Vance, for the past several years member of the First National bank, has been named president of the bank. It was announced today. Vance succeeds C. E. Utt, pioneer Tustin man and for the past 15 years the active leader of the institution. John Sumner was re-elected vice president.

William Leinberger, assistant cashier for the past several years, was named cashier to fill the vacancy left by the election of Vance. Utt was re-elected president but resigned and Vance was named as the head of the institution.

NEWPORT BALLOTS SENT BY AIR MAIL

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 15.—A campaign to elect larger quarters for the Boy Scout troop here may be started in the near future, it was announced today.

The American Legion hall, where the Scouts have been meeting, has become too small for the Scout group. Growth of the organization has made new quarters imperative, according to Scoutmaster A. J. Twist.

The hall will accommodate approximately 30 persons, according to Twist, while at a recent meeting of the Scouts, 40 boys were present. The Scout membership here has increased until it now numbers 51. Four new Scouts joined the organization Friday evening. Donald Stiffert, a transfer from Santa Ana, is one of the new members. The other three are Herchel Pugh, John Starnes and Wayne Dye.

Scouts are to have a court of honor the third Friday of every month. E. B. "Dick" Whitman has been named deputy commissioner of the court of honor for the district, which includes Costa Mesa, Huntington Beach, Garden Grove and the harbor district.

Scouts are preparing for the annual anniversary program to be given at the grammar school auditorium February 26. The program will feature a program of songs and administrative work to the point.

NEWPORT BALLOTS SENT BY AIR MAIL

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 15.—The Newport service will play an important part in the election of the new directors of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce. It was announced here today. G. C. Macleod, secretary of the chamber, today mailed several ballots to members of the chamber in distant places. All of the ballots were sent by air mail and will be returned the same way. The ballots must be returned before January 19.

Results of the election are to be made known at the annual banquet of the chamber of commerce at the Balboa Palisades club next Thursday evening. Seven new directors are to be elected.

BEACH CLUB WILL CLOSE DINING ROOM

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 15.—The dining room of the Southern Beach club will be closed at the end of this month. It was announced following a meeting of members and directors of the club Saturday. A report given at the membership meeting showed that the cost of maintaining the dining hall and clubhouse was approximately $100 per month. The members placed the matter of closing the dining room in the hands of the directors, who met in a special session following the membership meeting.

Approximately 30 members were present at the meeting and more than 40 members were represented by proxy. A report from the secretary showed that the club has an original membership of 125 and that 45 new members have been added during the past few months. Nearly half of the members have not paid their dues. The report showed, and members present voted to drop these members from the club roll at the end of the month. The membership committee is notified of the vote and members present representing the list of dues members, including a report have today, and all approved themselves in favor of plan of making the club pay a hotel basis. No action was taken on the hotel-club plan.

Directors of the club will meet next January 23 to discuss the meeting of what is to be done with the club. The directors do not have the power to accept the hotel-club plan and it is expected that another membership meeting will be held in the near future to determine the future status of the club.

A report on the $75,000 gold mine and of the club showed only $100 in cash.

Literary Luncheon To Be Featured At the Inn

Literary luncheons, which have proven such delightful affairs at the Biltmore in Los Angeles, the Garden of Allah in Hollywood, the Huntington in Pasadena, and other of the Southland's smartest hostesses, are to be featured in Santa Ana at St. Ann's Inn, as well, to the delight of scores of prominent women in this city, who anticipate the semi-monthly events with much pleasurable interest.

The project was launched Saturday at a smart luncheon presented at the Inn by Mrs. Edward Givins of Los Angeles, president of the Literary Luncheon series, who had with her, Margaret Barbrick Gillette, dramatist, expression artist and critic. Mrs. Gillette gave an extremely entertaining talk in the interval between luncheon and bridge, taking as her theme, recent dramatic successes of stage and screen.

Luncheon was served at one long table in the east end of the Inn dining-room, with golden blossoms making a bright spot of color on the white linen. Manager Robert L. Bisby entered into the spirit of the occasion by serving a delectable menu of braised sweetbreads with French mushrooms, artichokes and kindred delicacies of special attraction to feminine guests.

While those present lingered over their perfumery, Mrs. Gillette opened her interesting talk with Maurice Brown's statement of "Those patterns of human beings which we call plays," declaring that the modern trend of feature films is towards the spiritual. She cited "The Heaven" as being one of the leading features in this respect, and a play of unusual charm and beauty in its story of a spiritual escape.

Plays she analyzed and discussed in her intensely interesting manner, included "The Jazz Singer," by Samson Raphaelson; Eva La Gallienne's "Cradle Song" and Galsworthy's "Escape." The latter she characterized as being especially interesting in dramaticity, with its seven distinct scenes, all completely lacking in the love interest that usually dominates a play.

At the close of her talk, the group returned to the lobby of the Inn where tables were arranged around a glowing fire, for a session of bridge. Dainty handkerchiefs and an engagement pad were awarded as prizes, and were secured by Mrs. Haddon, Mrs. Chenoweth, Mrs. Goodman and Mrs. Swales.

Guests entertained were Mrs. R. A. Cushman, Mrs. William L. Deimling, Mrs. F. E. Coulter, Miss Lula Minter, Mrs. William H. Haddon, Mrs. M. D. Borgmeyer, Mrs. Emmett Elliott, Mrs. W. H. Harrison, Mrs. Jesse Goodman, Mrs. Harry G. Huffman, Mrs. Lloyd A. Chenoweth, Mrs. George H. Briggs, Mrs. Clarence A. Guistlin and Mrs. Leonard G. Swales.

The luncheon series will be launched formally with the February event, to take place on the first Saturday of the month. Mrs. Gillette will discuss outstanding dramatic events immediately after luncheon, and the latter part of the afternoon will be devoted to bridge. The events will be open to

Bridge Club Members Enjoy Reunion with Mrs. Howard

Particularly enjoyable was the reunion Saturday afternoon, of the members of a once-flourishing bridge club, assembled at the call of Mrs. Horace J. Howard (formerly Miss Kathleen Owens) whose cozy home on South Ross street, was the scene of the festive meeting.

Mrs. Howard is the bride of the club, whose members included Mrs. Bruce Switzer, Miss Janet Wilde, Miss Maurine Hamill, Miss Fredella Allen and Mrs. Emmett Elliott of this city, Miss Helen Cramer of Orange, and two Oklahans, Miss Betty Newlands and Miss Margaret King, who have returned to their eastern homelands.

Saturday's party comprised those members still in California, plus Mrs. Francis J. Cox (Roberta Owens) and Miss Adele Howard of Pomona, who was a houseguest of her brother and sister-in-law, while a guest of outstanding interest, was small Shirley-Jean Switzer, enjoying her first bridge party with her mother.

In the bridge contest of the afternoon, the pretty felt flower and the brass bridge bell selected by the hostess as prizes, were secured by Mrs. Elliott and Miss Wilde.

In arranging the tables with some of her beautiful bridal linens, and serving a salad course with tea followed by ice and "snowballs," Mrs. Howard was assisted by Mrs. Cox.

Wedded in Riverside

A wedding announcement which will come as a pleasant surprise to a host of friends in this community, is that of Miss Lucile Searcy of this city, and Robert Belding of Costa Mesa. The young people motored to Riverside last Wednesday, and were wedded at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon at the parsonage home of the Rev. Mr. Catherwood, pastor of the Riverside Baptist church.

Miss Searcy was charming in a gown of orchid flat crepe and carrying a great cluster of bride roses. She was attended by Miss Flora Hunter who wore rose satin robes. Mr. Belding was assisted by his brother, Lee Belding, as best man.

Witnessing the pretty ceremony were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Searcy, 817 West Fourth street, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Drago; Mr. Belding's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wellington, Miss Flora Hunter and Lee Belding. Robert Belding is a valued employee of the county, and is connected with the road maintenance department. He has made Costa Mesa his home for the past five years. His bride has a host of friends here where she has been a student at Santa Ana high school, and their good wishes will follow her to her new home on the Mesa.

The luncheon series will be launched formally with the February event, to take place on the first Saturday of the month. Mrs. Gillette will discuss outstanding dramatic events immediately after luncheon, and the latter part of the afternoon will be devoted to bridge. The events will be open to

Younger Social Set Enjoy Luncheon And Bridge

Miss Frances Bowman, attractive daughter of the Charles Bowman of Tustin, entertained recently at a bridge luncheon to which a group of her friends were invited.

At the bridge game which followed the serving of the refreshments, appointed luncheon, hand honors were awarded Miss Helen Gilbaugh, second to Miss Charlotte Vance, and Miss Demaris Sears was conceded. Mrs. L. E. Allen assisted Mrs. Bowman in serving.

Those included in the guest list were the Misses Demaris Sears, Marian Crutchenbank, Florence Thompson, Marjorie Arundell, Charlotte Vance, Helen Blalough, Demaris Sears, Mrs. Cheney, Loraine Allen, Neva McDonald, Virginia Thurston of Laguna Beach and Juliette Taylor.

Santa Ana Women's club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. Mary Van Wyck, 144 North Ross street. The program on "California Authors" will be in charge of Madeline Van Wyck, C. F. Croon, Walter Moore and George Slocum.

St. Elizabeth's Guild of the Church of the Messiah will hold a rummage sale Friday and Saturday of this week. Anyone having donations for the sale is requested to phone 1678-W, 2523-M, or 1946.

The W. G. T. U. of this city will sponsor a young woman's oratorical contest to be presented at Spurgeon Memorial church Tuesday night, 7:45 o'clock.

The Ladies' Guild of the Church of the Messiah will hold a silver tea Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Harry Spencer, 2821 North Park boulevard. Each member is asked to bring a guest.

Calumet auxiliary U. S. W. V. will meet tonight Tuesday, 7:30, in E. P. Hall, Mrs. Bartha Dixon, new president, has asked all officers to be present at that time.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

G. O. C. Study group
One of the past week's enjoyable church affairs was that given by the G. O. C. of the United Brethren Sunday school, entertaining in the parlors of the church.

Mrs. O. C. Dams and Mrs. Norman Burgess had charge of the evening's program which included a clever sketch read and presented by Mr. Burgess and his son, Emerson. They followed this with some entertaining readings, sandwiches, coffee and water were served before the friendly evening came to a close.

Those in the party were Messrs. and Madeline O. C. Dams, C. W. and Arthur Murray, Harry C. and Charles C. Murray, George and Fred Dams, A. W. Brown, J. E. Noble, Alfred Wright, U. S. Colby, Thomas H. Lacy, Norman Burgess, J. H. Hoffman, E. H. Edwards, Jack, William and Logan Hart, N. G. DeWitt, W. Atherston, Deakin, Lena, Bartlett, Roberts, Newton.

First Presbyterian
The Women's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday with a guest number in attendance. Mrs. A. M. McDermott in her usual capable way, conducted the devotionals, using the theme "Spiritual Advance." She gave a most wonderfully interesting and uplifting lesson.

After transaction of usual business, Mrs. O. J. Love, formerly of Santiago, Chile, was introduced, and gave a good explanation of the campaign to raise a fund for the purpose of providing adequate school buildings for Latin American children in the United States, which is laboring under such difficult conditions at present. The movement is to be international. At the close of Mrs. Love's talk, Miss Tompkins of Barranquilla, Colombia, gave many interesting descriptions of her school and work in the city of Barranquilla, stressing the need of better equipment. Everyone felt repaid for going and carried with them as they returned to their homes, larger ideas of the scope of, and needs of, the work in Latin America.

Dorcas Society
Mrs. Dick Cribbie of 499 North Sycamore street, assisted by Mrs. Ray Brown, Mrs. Clarence Bond and Mrs. E. C. Fuller, entertained the Dorcas society at First M. E. church yesterday afternoon. Forty women were present, including six new members. Mrs. George Goodther, Mrs. G. H. Nelson, Mrs. George Gillette, Mrs. H. W. Wray, Mrs. Violet Chen and Mrs. Arthur Archer and three visitors.

Mrs. I. Craig of Ewa, Mrs. McKinley, who moved here recently from Alameda, Cal., and Mrs. Bruns, mother of Mrs. Cribbie, and president of the General Aid society of the church.

Much enthusiasm was manifested in drawing of capsules which contained subjects for personal solicitations throughout the year. After a very interesting business meeting Mrs. Goodther, supervisor of music in the schools, sang two very pleasing songs, "Will at the Wave" and "Water of Baptism," accompanied by Mrs. Brown. The hostesses served a very delicious salad course during the social hour.

Bible Class Party
The Bible class taught by Rev. G. N. Greer in the Reformed Presbyterian church held its monthly social in the church parlor Friday evening. The social committee made it a birthday evening as a number of the class have birthdays in February.

Candies and beer lamps were used for lighting and decoration. At the close of the meeting, Rev. Mr. Greer was called on and in a very pleasant manner presented the program. The Rev. Mr. Greer then presented a paper on the subject of "The Christian's Responsibility in the Home." This was a complete surprise to the pastor who found difficulty in expressing his appreciation of such Christian love and appreciation. This class of the Rev. Mr. Greer is one of the enthusiastic organizations of the church and always ready for any service. Last year they supported a boy in the boarding school in Katakia, Syria.

Popular Guests Are Being Welcomed By Friends

Interesting home-coming parties are being given in the city, with Mrs. Otto A. Knapp of Los Angeles, and her daughter, Mrs. William Wilson (formerly formerly of California), who will be entertained in the home of Mrs. W. E. Harrison, 1428 Fruit street, for the entire week. They will be joined on Thursday, by the Mrs. M. St. Paul, who is coming down for the Baptist regional conference.

Friends who were apprised of their coming, have arranged a series of informal affairs for their entertainment, with Mrs. Harrison today declared, that it looked as though her home would be nearly a starting point for other places as the popular guests had been asked for so many dinners and luncheons.

It will be remembered that Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left last summer for Oregon, where they are making their home. Mrs. Wilson came to California to spend the month of January with her parents, who have been living in Los Angeles ever since. Dr. Russell, surgeon from the pastorate of the Santa Ana Baptist church.

Discards of Quality

The real beauty of a diamond depends on its color, cut and clarity. In the case of a diamond, you will find many smaller stones especially selected for quality, but quite moderate in price. Any of them will bring greater, more lasting satisfaction than a larger sized diamond. You'll be especially delighted to see our Green diamond out watches, priced as low as $50. Come in.

Can Stolen Love Bring Happiness?

NEVER would Lucy forget the day when she suddenly awoke to the fact that she was in love with another woman's husband.

And what was more amazing, more thrilling, he was in love with her.

What should she do? She knew she was desperately unhappy, and yearning for life to the end, she knew when she had thought the loved when she married him.

STILL she might have accepted her unhappy lot and hid her heart, as women sometimes will—had not her heart been torn by the knowledge that her husband had been married for years.

And now her heart was torn by the knowledge that her husband had been married for years.

Love, she had often heard, is a her own kind. Should she never be called—sacrifice home, home, everything—in a desperate search of happiness?

THIS was the problem Lucy had to solve. And her decision, she knew, would mean either freedom to live and love as she chose—or being down upon her head disillusionment and pain.

What did she do? She calls you, really, vividly, in "Tangled Vines," which appears complete with other real-stirring stories in the February issue of True Story Magazine. Your newspaper can supply you. Buy it today.

EAT THE THEATER

YOST BROADWAY THEATER
The comedy riot of the season, "A Texas Steer," with Will Rogers, America's cowboy - humorist and congressman-at-large, opened its long-heralded engagement at the Broadway theater yesterday and it fully justified the advance notices acclaiming it one of the outstanding comedies of the season.

Adding to the uproarious situations in the famous old Charles Hoyt stage success, are Will Rogers' own titles, quite as funny as they are cracked up to be. The ex-mayor of Beverly is surrounded by an all-star cast.

"A Texas Steer" has Will Rogers in the role of a Texas cattleman elected to congress against his wishes through the scheming of a socially ambitious wife and daughter.

Exteriors were actually taken in Washington, and the whole production, authentic in every detail, represents the big effort to make a comedy special to make the millions of theater-goers roar with laughter. The picture gives the inimitable Will the opportunity to air his pet aversion—Congress!

Louise Fazenda has the role of "Ma" Brander, the wife. Ann Rork is the charming daughter, Bossy, and Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is in the cast.

WEST COAST-WALKER

He's here again, that prince of suavity, Adolphe Menjou, dominating the screen at the West Coast-Walker theater in his latest picture, "Serenade."

"Serenade" differs quite a bit from the type of tale we are accustomed to watch Menjou unfold. He is quite as polished and suave as ever, but the story is well advanced before we see him as the immaculately garbed man of fashion—instead he is a rumpled-haired composer, struggling to make good in what pretty nearly approached a garret.

There is a Menjou technique that is as pronounced in "Serenade" as it has been in every picture he has ever made. It is apparent in such trivial details as the manner in which he lights a cigarette, or glances for a moment at something that attracts his interest. He can say more with a look than the average actor can with all manner of facial contortions. And he does it in "Serenade," yet offers the other members of the cast, every opportunity for the limelight—also typical of Menjou.

In the Fanchon and Marco "idea," Al Herman in black face, dominates the boards. He keeps everyone in a roar with his foolishness, in which he seizes on happenings of the moment, either in the audience or on the stage. A warm welcome is extended Way Watts also, upon his "return home," and his fingers travel as lightly over the strings of his uke, as they did in the days when he was master of ceremonies at the West Coast-Walker.

TEMPLE THEATER

"The Girls of the Underworld" opened at the Temple theater last Thursday and has been drawing capacity business with special matinees daily for women only and continuous shows for men only every evening.

The dramatic story deals with the habits of the underworld and an innocent young girl who was not content with her home and desires to see the bright lights of Broadway, her meeting with the human wolves always on the alert for easy prey, and her fall to a life of shame after an introduction to the Great White Way.

WEST END THEATER

A feud, a mysterious murder from ambush, and a haunted ranch house are elements that combine to make "The Cherokee Kid," a Tom Tyler western showing for the last time tonight at West End theater, one of the most thrilling westerns ever seen by local moviegoers at the West Fourth street playhouse.

The WOMAN'S DAY ALLIANCE

"The average intelligent girl is painfully cramped within the boundaries of home life as the man who is cooped up in an office for long." Lena Madeline Phillips, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, says this. But even her title won't spare her now, for this is the sort of statement, that I myself have learned, that takes the majority of women seriously. After all, the majority of women are in homes, and it is only women to defend one's own state. I am inclined to think, though, that Miss Phillips means an unmarried girl living in her parents' home when she talks about the "painful cramps" of home life, or even if she meant the other thing, she would be too cautious to say it.

ONE WOMAN AFFAIRS
I am convinced that no house is a home to more than one woman. The inborn possessive instinct of woman seems to that, for a instinct of home possession is strong in woman that she will share her possession with anyone else. When mothers complain daughters who "won't do a tap work at home," I wonder how any "taps" these now efficient women did when they were girls home. It's one thing to do your work and it's another thing to do another woman's work in other woman's home, even if at woman does happen to be her own mother. I have seen the "laxest" latest girls in their parents' home transformed into usefully models in homes of their own.

And I am sure that Miss Phillips believes with me that when a girl gets into a home, her brain isn't "cramped," but this home is her as much chance for use her intelligence as any other.

NEVISA SAYS
Neysa McKein, famous artist of "Betty Girl" magazine covers, recently had this to say on the subject of motherhood and career—If it ever came to a question having to give up either motherhood or my career, I would unhesitatingly give up my career. I did never let my married life be a second place. But I can see earthly reason why a woman can't have both."

THEY "SEE"
Of course, she can't see, nor can a woman see whose earnings actually runs into three and four figures a week, but the average man whose maximum earning actually is about $50 a week and soon learns that a housekeeper, a nursemaid and the other substitutes for herself the home take most of that $50, every imaginable "earthly reason" why she can't always have it.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY MICK

(Read The Story, Then Color The Picture)

"We're Tinymites," wee Scouty cried, "and old Jack Frost sent us inside this passageway that's underground. We're merely here for play. If you can tell us where to turn for things to see and things to learn, we'll thank you very kindly and be on our merry way."

"Well, let me see," the door guard said. And then he stopped to scratch his head. "There's really not much fun down here. It's quiet as can be. 'But all we have is dry mud floors. I stay here 'cause it's cold outdoors. The chilly blasts and ice and snow do not appeal to me."

"That's why we Tinymites came inside, to warm ourselves," wee Clowny cried. "But if there's nothing here to do, I guess we will not stay. It's not much fun just sitting 'round. We thought that queer things would be found. If you'll show us the way."

"Now, wait a minute," said the guard. "Be patient while I think real hard. I guess you're looking for a thrill. I'll help you if I can." He thought and thought, and then he cried, "Just follow me. We'll go outside. But, first I have a present, and a dandy little plan."

He soon brought forth a monstrous box and said, "I'm clever as a fox. This box is yours, and it will bring you heaps and heaps of fun." The exit doorway then was tried. It opened to the great outdoors. The guard went out and all the Tinymites followed on the run.

The guard then said, "Now that you're out, I'll tell you what this gift's about. Don't open it till I have gone. There's nothing to be feared. But, when the little lid is pried, you'll find some funny things inside." And then the guard exclaimed, "Goodbye" and promptly disappeared.

THE SHAMPOO

Many women wonder at the condition of their hair, when it only looks well a day or so after the shampoo. A correct way to shampoo is no simple matter.

To begin with, you should never rub a cake of soap on the hair. You should not use any kind that you happen to have. Tar or castile soap are the best. The soap should be shaved into small pieces and made into a jelly by melting it with water. A cake of soap made into this form of shampoo will do for several uses.

If you have to use hard water in washing your hair, a little borax or lemon juice should be put into the water. The hair should be washed with the shampoo three times. It should be rinsed very carefully, in several water. When your hair makes a squeaky noise when you pull it through your fingers you can then be sure that it is fairly clean.

After the hair has received its final rinsing, wring it out and wrap a warm towel around the hair. Rub the hair with the towel until most of the moisture is absorbed. You should have another warm towel ready and divide the hair into sections, rubbing each section with the towel. It is best to apply the hair tonic, if you are using one, while the hair is still damp. You should also massage the head, making a turban of the towel. This method of drying the hair is much better than drying it by artificial heat. Before dressing your hair comb it out, working from the ends up, then brushing it well.

GIRL FREED BY MEXICANS, BUT BOYS ARE HELD

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 16.—Evelyn Castello, 19, former ushette in a Watsonville theater, has had enough of adventure in Mexico. She wants to settle down and lead a normal American existence.

The girl was spared a prison sentence in the Mexican colony at Tres Marias Island when Mexican authorities deported her and sent her four companions to the island for five years.

Miss Castello was arrested with the quartet last week near Ensenada, Baja, California. The men were charged with highway robbery and found guilty.

After an investigation the Mexicans found that Miss Castello had no part in the robberies and had gone into the country with the men "for an adventure."

The men are: Russell E. Tanner, 28, Lakewood, Calif.; L. N. Thompson, 25, a Canadian; Ebenezer R. Kirby, 22, of New York and Elton E. Morehouse, 25, of Salinas. All of the men but Morehouse were said to have been on leave from the 76th field artillery, Monterey.

The girl is being held at the detention home here while an attempt is being made to secure employment for her.

JACK LOCKWELL

By Patten

Jane Magon was more self-possessed. "We heard something moving in our room," she explained quickly. "Daddy screamed, but I snapped on the lights. 8th of us saw something in white disappear behind the portiere. Then we ran out into the hall, and I looked the door behind us." "Well, I guess you've caught the ghost," said Jack. "Let's take a look at it!"

"He's turned off the lights!" whispered Jane. "Look out!" Jack stepped inside and snapped the lights on again. "Here he is!" he cried, springing toward the portiere.

Guided by Jane and Betty, the boys mounted the stairs to the second floor. There Jane gave Jack her key, with which he unlocked the door to her room. The place was dark.
